

Coal Companies, Miners, Eye New Pact

CENTRALIA, Ill. (AP) — Coal companies and miners will begin new contract negotiations some time this month, with each side hoping to sidestep a nationwide strike like the one that shackled the industry three years ago.

"A lot of people have said that it's all but inevitable that we'll have a strike," Phillip Sparks, a spokesman for the 120,000-member United Mine Workers, says.

"But I think it's still too early to tell. Our opinion all along has been that the questions aren't going to be ones that can't be solved if both sides bargain in good faith."

But some UMW officials have already accused the companies of foot dragging. They say the issues are so numerous and complex the talks should already be under way if a pact is to be agreed upon by the time the current contract expires Nov. 12. No date for the first session has been set.

Approved in 1971 during wage and price controls, the current contract is a source of bitter frustration for the miners. It provided pay hikes of $3 a day for the first year and $2 in each of the next two years.

But last year inflation increased by 8.8 per cent and the $2 hike of 1974 amounted only to a raise of only 8.2 per cent. So, by the union's reasoning, the miners actually took a 6 per cent cut. Meanwhile they've watched with envy the signing of attractive pacts by auto and steel workers.

The last time the miners went to the mat there was a 44-day strike that idled 100,000 miners in 25 states. The walkout caused railroad layoffs and a coal shortage in the utility industry. When it was over, the miners had a contract that boosted top wage scales from $37 to $50 per day and doubled the 40 cents per ton royalty paid by the companies to the miners' retirement and medical fund.

The miners say their priorities for the new contract are:

—A pay hike. Some miners are talking about a top of $72 a day.

—A cost of living escalator pegged to the rate of inflation. It would be the first such escalator in UMW history.

—Sick leave. Miners are now entitled to none.

A substantial increase in the 80 cents per ton royalty to finance dental and eye care plus pension improvements.

Mine owners, represented in the bargaining by the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, declined comment on contract items.

"It would appear that we are negotiating in the newspapers," explained Bob Vines, a spokesman for the operators.

But in other forums the coal companies are talking of hard times when strict new federal air pollution guidelines and land reclamation standards for strip mining become effective.

The industry says one-third of the nation's coal will be unusable with next year's air quality regulations.

BASEMENT UNDER CONSTRUCTION—

The concrete walls of the basement of the new ancillary addition to Berger Hospital are being poured at present. Hospital administrator John Reid stated that the north wall of the basement should be completed today and the construction of the other three walls will begin first thing in the morning.

About half of the metal works are complete and the operation is still working approximately three weeks behind schedule due to the weather conditions and a short strike at the beginning of the construction. Workmen from the general contractor, Steward Construction, are shown in the background.

Senate Committee Clears Kissinger Of Wiretap Guilt

ROUNDTOWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has withdrawn his threat to resign after receiving vindication from the Senate Foreign Relations Committee over a wiretap controversy.

The committee found no fault with his account of his role in the wiretapping of newsmen and government officials.

But in a report issued Tuesday, the committee did not endorse the wiretapping, which was aimed at stopping the leaking of classified information to reporters. In fact, Chairman J. W. Fulbright said he opposes the practice and thinks the committee does, too.

The committee's investigation, begun June 10 at Kissinger's request, concluded there was nothing shown to bar his service as secretary of state.

Kissinger, who had said he would quit if not cleared in the wiretapping matter, withdrew his threat after the results of the committee investigation were announced. "Given the content of the report the secretary no longer sees any reason for resignation," a spokesman said.

The secretary issued his resignation threat after newspaper stories, apparently based on FBI files, indicated Kissinger had ordered the wiretaps in 1969 and 1970.

During his confirmation hearings before the committee last September, Kissinger had testified:

"I did not initiate the program, I did not recommend the program, and I had nothing to do with its establishment. I then participated in the program, once it was established, according to criteria that had been laid down in the President's office."

Appearing to be in conflict with that story were three memos, submitted to the House Judiciary Committee for its impeachment investigation, in which the late FBI director J. Edgar Hoover cited Kissinger as the authority for instituting wiretaps.

The Fulbright committee conceded the discrepancies and said it probably will never be possible, because of the deaths and loss of memory and records to determine exactly what took place.

Council also transferred $2,000 from the general fund to the police department maintenance of equipment account. Chief of Police Robert Temple reported that maintenance costs have skyrocketed this year.

An ordinance authorizing safety Director Ed Ebert to advertise for bids for a 1975 cruiser was approved. Temple said that delivery could be anticipated about October he has been told by automobile dealers. The new cruiser is to replace a 1973 model that has over 70,000 miles and is part of the city's annual vehicle replacement plan.

An ordinance authorizing the service director to advertise for bids for construction of a new access road into Ted Lewis Park was approved. A resolution authorizing the approval of the Pickaway County Warning plan and the installation of four sirens in the city was approved.

Nixon To Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's closest aide, White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig Jr., held a private, hour-long meeting with Vice President Gerald R. Ford today as demands mounted for Nixon to resign.

The meeting in Ford's office was requested by Haig, said Ford's press secretary, Paul Miltich.

Miltich said the two men "exchanged views on the current situation" but refused to elaborate.

Earlier, White House sources acknowledged that a presidential resignation remains a possibility.

"Sure it is — all options are open," said one source.

Another agreed, saying that despite Nixon's vow to his cabinet Tuesday that he has no intention of resigning "the situation is fluid. We don't know what is going to happen."

The sources' comments in interviews reflected the clearly perceptible mood of uncertainty cloaking the corridors and cubby holes where the President's men work.

One after another, Nixon aides responded with a sigh or a shrug of their shoulders when asked what could or would happen next.

Some said they thought the wave of resignation and impeachment demands would subside. Others weren't too sure and privately were glum about the President's chances of clinging to the nation's highest office.

Presidential spokesmen did little to dispell the mood of uncertainty when they stopped short of ruling out a possible Nixon resignation.

Resignation demands mounted Tuesday, especially among congressional Republicans in the mushrooming reaction to Nixon's dual, damaging disclosures Monday that he tried two years ago to thwart a major phase of the FBI's Watergate investigation, and that he withheld this information from Congress and his own lawyer.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren skirted direct answers to reporters who pressed him repeatedly to say flatly that Nixon would not resign. Finally, Warren said, "He does not intend to resign."

Rather, the spokesman said, Nixon intends to "see that the business of the people continues ... as we move through the constitutional process."

By constitutional process, Warren said he meant a Senate impeachment trial.

But he dodged questions on whether the "constitutional process" might include invoking the 25th Amendment, which sets procedures for a president to temporarily step aside if unable to carry out the duties of office.

Warren said that when Nixon met Sunday with his closest aides at Camp David, Md., there was no discussion of using the 25th Amendment to install Vice President Gerald R. Ford as acting chief executive until completion of a Senate trial.

But the spokesman confirmed what other White House sources disclosed Monday night — that Nixon again considered during the weekend whether to resign.

Impeachment Seems Certain

WASHINGTON (AP) — One by one they took their stand on the impeachment of President Nixon, and at the end of the day it was clear the vote in the House will be a mere formality.

From Minority Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona to freshman Rep. Robert E. Bauman of Maryland, a number of House Republicans announced their support for impeachment, many of them calling for Nixon's resignation as well.

The list included all 10 Republicans on the House Judiciary Committee who had voted against the articles of impeachment that will be brought to the House floor Aug. 19.

Their statements, issued in response to Nixon's admission that he withheld evidence linking him to the Watergate coverup, left no doubt Tuesday that Nixon faces a Senate trial and possible removal from office if he does not resign.

And despite repeated statements from the White House that Nixon will not resign, the belief persists on Capitol Hill that it remains a possibility, especially if there is a heavy House vote for impeachment.

Rhodes said at a news conference he felt Nixon would resign whenever he felt he was unable to govern. Asked to evaluate Nixon's ability to govern now, Rhodes said, "I would say it has been sadly impaired."

The hopelessness of Nixon's situation in the House was underscored by Rhodes' response to a question as to whether there was anything the President could do to save himself.

"I suppose there might be, but right now I couldn't say. I'm at a loss to know," he said.

Rhodes did not deny at the news conference a comment by Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., that he had told Rhodes over the weekend the President would release new and damaging material on Monday. The Los Angeles Times reported in today's edition that Wiggins had been given a sneak preview Friday of the latest Nixon transcript at a meeting with Nixon aide Alexander M. Haig Jr. and the President's chief impeachment lawyer, James D. St. Clair.

Meanwhile, administration and congressional sources said the disclosures by Nixon had been prompted in part by St. Clair, who had learned last week that Nixon had withheld important evidence from him.

The sources said St. Clair told Nixon "You make a statement or I will," after which the decision was made to release the material.

The surge in support for impeachment brought with it a marked release in tension among House Republicans, who had been dreading the coming vote. Although they made frequent references to the sorrow and anguish of their decision, they found comfort in the numbers of their colleagues joining them.

"Obviously, it relieves the pressure on a number of members who were just on the brink, who were beside themselves," said Rep. Robert H. Michel, R-Ill.

So strong was the surge, members reported it was hard to find anyone who still opposed impeachment. "I don't think there will be anybody in the House who will vote against impeachment," said Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich.

Nicholas Drive Area Residents Attend City Council Meeting

Circleville Council was visited Tuesday by a group of parents from the Nicholas Drive Elementary-High School area seeking an answer to when the Nicholas Drive Improvement Project would get under way.

Their question was partially answered by Mayor Frank Barnhill and Service Director Atwood Jones during the portion of council devoted to routine reports of city officials.

The mayor explained that since Issue I state money is being used on the project, all plans and specifications must meet state requirements and the "red tape" involved has slowed the project considerably.

He named a list of several state agencies that must review the plans before final approval.

Jones said that the engineers for the project, Barrett Cargo and Withers of Chillicothe, have the plans 98 per cent included. He said the city is presently in the process of acquiring right of way easements and work agreements. According to Jones, once the easements and agreements have been acquired and the plans approved by all the necessary governmental agencies, the state will bid the project. At that point it becomes a state highway project he stated.

By the time the reports to council were completed and pending legislation was discussed in a recess, most of the people had left who came to find out when the project would be completed.

However, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Arledge, 232 Nicholas Drive, had remained. They tried to get a definite date for completion of the project, stating that Jones and other city officials had promised city parent-teacher groups it would be completed by the beginning of the current school term.

Both Jones and the mayor would not give a date of completion, although they indicated it may be 1975 before the project is completed. Arledge also asked why he was not allowed to install his own curb and gutter.

Jones explained the city has in recent years, adopted the policy of asking residents of a street to petition for curb and gutter and then doing the area all at one time. Jones said this assured property owners the curbs and gutters would all be on the proper grade and eliminated the need to remove curb and gutter improperly installed.

A cement contractor in the gallery expressed the opinion that when the city bid the job and assessed property owners, the cost was higher than if the individual property owners were allowed to contract the job.

However, Jones pointed out the city accepted the responsibility under the present system and that if the individual property owner installed the curb and gutter on the wrong grade he could be required to do the job over.

Mobile Homes Violate City Ordinance

Initial steps were taken Tuesday by Circleville Council to have mobile homes which are in violation of the city's zoning ordinance removed from the property.

Service Director Atwood Jones said that several mobile homes which are in violation are located on lots throughout the city. He reported that he is aware of some of the violations but there are undoubtedly others which have not been called to his attention.

He informed council members that he has sent a registered letter to the owner of a trailer parked at 907 S. Washington St. Council passed a resolution authorizing city attorney William Stevenson to take the necessary legal action to have the trailer removed from the property.

Jones indicated that if other non-complying mobile homes are not removed voluntarily from property, legal action will be taken.

In other action, the salary of the manager of public utilities was increased to $18,000. The increase will apply to the person to be employed to replace Charles Taylor who submitted his letter of resignation to the members of the public utilities board last month.

Dr. John Bowers, a board member, told council that the board has been told $18,000 is the minimum salary they would have to offer to attract applicants for the position. He said if no applications for the post were submitted he may ask for an additional increase in the salary.

An ordinance transferring $2,000 from the general fund to the acting judges account of municipal court was approved. In explaining the need for the transfer, Councilman David Goldschmidt noted that since Jan. 1 Judge Sterling Lamb has been absent from court 43 days. The city is required to have an acting judge each day and salary of the acting judge is set by state law at $70 per day. Acting judges have been paid over $3,011 so far this year, Goldschmidt said, and the city appropriated only $2,000 to

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market put together another strong advance today, riding hopes for an early resolution of President Nixon's future in the White House.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 10.33 to 784.11, increasing its gain since the start of the week to more than 30 points. Gainers held better than a 2-1 advantage over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the market was responding to news reports this morning of increasing pressure on the President regarding the impeachment question. They said many investors were hoping for a speedy settlement of the issue so that both the White House and Congress could turn their full attention to such economic problems as inflation and high interest rates.

Boeing was the Big Board volume leader, up $\frac{1}{8}$ at 18 $\frac{1}{2}$.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .36 at 78.05.

The NYSE's noon composite index of all its listed common stocks stood at 42.60, up .43.

The Amex volume leader was Westrans Industries, up $\frac{7}{8}$ at 14 $\frac{1}{4}$.

GOP Senators Eye Resignation Push

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Senate Republicans are considering whether to send a delegation to President Nixon with word that a majority of GOP senators wants him to resign and that chances of conviction in an impeachment trial are growing.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott told reporters late Tuesday afternoon the GOP leadership will meet again today "to discuss the desirability and means of conveying to the President" views expressed earlier in the day at a party luncheon.

After that luncheon, Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., told reporters "It is my guess that the majority sentiment among Republican senators is that he should retire from office."

The Texas Republican, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, said that there was "great concern that the President does not perhaps comprehend the great hazard he faces in coming to trial in the Senate."

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., former national GOP chairman, said today that "all but a handful of Republicans in the Senate would like to see resignation." He had been quoted Tuesday as saying that no more than 20 pro-Nixon votes could be counted on.

In an interview on the CBS "Morning News," Dole said that if an impeachment vote were taken in the Senate "as of today," Nixon would be removed from office.

Dole said he still had the feeling that Nixon was giving serious consideration to resignation, either under the 25th Amendment provisions allowing him to turn over power temporarily or outright resignation from office.

"Something is in the air, something big," he said. Other GOP sources said the majority favoring resignation was overwhelming and that "there was no expression of support" for Nixon at the meeting, a regular Tuesday session at which Republican senators discuss policy and politics.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford spent about 30 minutes at the luncheon, sketching for senators the President's vow not to resign delivered at an earlier Cabinet meeting.

Ford conducted himself "very circumspectly," according to Tower, and then left as the senators began to discuss their next step.

Police Check Grand Thefts, Destruction

Two grand larcenies and vandalism of an auto are being investigated by Circleville Police today.

Thieves entered a garage at the rear of the 137 Walnut St., home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schultz to steal an undetermined amount of merchandise.

Included in the theft were two 15-inch white sidewall truck tires mounted on blue wheels, a half a roll of Romax electrical wire, and about 175 feet of bare copper wire.

Glen Christy, 536 Edgewood Dr., told police that thieves took a tackle box from a boat in his garage about a month ago.

The fishing equipment is valued at $150.

Jack Willoughby, 350 Sunset Dr., said his vehicle was dented by a shot from a pellet gun Monday while he was driving on Atwater Ave.

Juveniles Arrested In Theft

Three 16-year-old Pickaway County youths and one 17-year-old Lancaster youth were arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff's Authorities in connection with the break-in at Bell's Grocery, Route 5.

The four used a screwdriver or tire tool to pry open a front window to the store to gain entry in the July 27 break-in. The cigarettes and money taken were estimated to be worth $130.

Detective Don Thompson made the arrests.

Defiance President Sets Resignation

DEFIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Defiance College President W. Nole Johnston said Tuesday that he intends to resign at the end of the school year.

The president said he will submit his formal resignation at the September trustees meeting. He said he announced his decision early so the board would have time to look for a successor.

Johnston has headed the 850-student college since 1964.

DELICATE BALANCE—Miss Lynne Ayres, left, Public Relations Department of Columbia Gas Systems, discussed her topic, "The Delicate Balance" at the Kiwanis meeting Monday at Pickaway Arms. The balance referred to is the balance between supply and demand for energy. She stated one reason why energy is in short supply is because of the environmentalists. Zero pollution is impossible. Charles Ried, right, vice-president presiding, introduced Miss Ayres. James R. Kingsley was inducted into the club.

A Page Of Opinion

New Jointure Evidence

Scientists now are convinced more firmly than ever that South America and Africa were once part of a vast super-continent, along with Australia, New Zealand and Antarctica. They have named it Gondwanaland.

Columbia University announced that American and British scientists drilling into the floor of the South Atlantic have found the missing link of evidence.

A finger-shaped extension of the Falkland Plateau, under two miles of water and sediment, is the discovery. It reaches 750 miles eastward from the Falkland Islands to a point 1,600 miles from the South American mainland. This once adjoined what is now the southeastern coast of South Africa, according to the scientists.

Prof. Ian W. D. Dalziel of Columbia and Peter Barker of Birmingham made their discovery as co-chief scientists on the recently-completed 36th leg of the Deep Sea Drilling Project being run by the Scripps Institution of Oceanography of the University of California at San Diego for the National Science Foundation.

"All the other points along the Atlantic contours of the two continents," said Prof. Dalziel, "had been proven by various scientific means to have been joined long ago."

A record breaking price was paid for Joan Enoch's grand champion steer at the Pickaway County Fair at the 4-H fat cattle sale. Dudley Carpenter, bidding for the Red Rose Farm Service, paid $1.22 a pound for the 1,000 pound hereford steer.

The famed Pickaway County tree near Circleville beneath which the Indian Chief Logan is said to have made his plea for peace between his tribesmen and the whites in 1774, has succumbed to the ravages of age, weather, and summer drought. The Ohio Historical Society said that leafing observed this spring on the one remaining live branch has not survived the 90 degree temperatures.

Speaking Of Your Health

I've never seen an answer to this question. Can smoking marijuana cause emphysema of the lungs, just as tobacco can?

Mr. B.L., Ind.

Dear Mr. L.: I have been flooded in recent years with requests to write more and more about marijuana.

The mass epidemic of its use has understandably introduced fears in parents. I have also had many letters from teenagers and young adults who are concerned because their parents smoke marijuana.

In a recent column I stated that many hidden dangers are unfolding about this so-called "harmless weed."

Emphysema, a desperately crippling disease of the lungs, is attributed mostly to cigarette smoking. It occurs in middle and late life and is a pathetic waste of the joys of living. Emphysema, in many instances, is preventable.

Doctors are seeing many more cases of emphysema in the young because of the deep inhaling associated with marijuana smoking. To obtain the full impact of the effect of marijuana, many smokers deeply fill their lungs and hold the smoke inside as long as possible.

The result is that emphysema, with its devitalizing effect, is being seen more and more among these smokers.

Emphysema is only one of the tragedies that can result from long-term smoking of marijuana. The scientific literature is revealing more and more reasons why legislative control is imperative to halt the use of marijuana.

How does a simple fracture differ from a compound fracture? Is one more difficult to heal than the other?

Mr. G.B., Ohio

Dear Mr. B.: The descriptive word "simple" does not mean the fracture is not serious. It means that the bone has been broken without injury to the skin surrounding it.

A compound fracture is one in which fragments of the bone have torn through the muscles and the skin and exposed the injured tissue to infection.

Both a simple and a compound fracture may be minor or very severe, depending on the particular bone that is broken and the injury to the surrounding tissue.

The Final Blending

By JIM BISHOP

COGNAC, FRANCE—The town is small, the spires and shops astride a saddle hill with endless fields of grapes in one stirrup and, in the other, the crumbling stone forts of Louis XIV on the edge of the smooth flowing Charente. It is old, precise and, like the brandies it produces, it will not expand or diminish.

Young mothers gossip around a shallow pool at City Hall, the eyes darting toward little ones frolicking nude in the sparkling water. In the shops, few speak English or push a sale. Kelly and I are staying at a manicured chateau called Bagnolet.

It looks like a movie set for a love story. The building is broad and white with a private entrance through a gravel road shaded by old oaks which form a cool canopy and beds of roses and hyacinth and demure daisies. The rooms are furnished with an elegance of colonial chairs, crystal chandeliers, ornate end tables and paintings of the Hennessys who came, unbidden from Ireland, to remain and be absorbed by the French.

There is a long porch facing lawns cascading down to the quiet river, where narcissistic poplars spin their leaves over the water to admire themselves in its mirror. There are crunchy lovers' walks between tall green hedges. At the far end, the hearts' cul de sac consists of a stone table and a curving stone bench built to accommodate two.

The Hennessys did not bring liquor to the Cognac country. The conquering Roman legions arrived here and were amused to learn that local Celtic priests forbade wine-drinking. The Romans showed the French the grapes can be fermented, then distilled in copper tubing, removing the water (called the head) and then by distilling it again, the last gleanings (called the tail) removed.

The result was no wine, no sin. It was as translucent as water. A drink or two could remove larynx, pharynx and tonsils. It had to be tamed. It required hundreds of years to learn that oak barrels, cut from the nearby forests of Limousin, could make a palatable potable if the casks remained uncharred.

In aging, the white lightning acquired the tint of dark port and the kiss of soft lips. The French found that, like a kiss, one was ecstatic, two gave the drinker base notions, and three a delayed whack in the head. It requires nine gallons of wine to make one gallon of Cognac; again, as with ladies, success became expensive.

Nor could the brandy of brandies be made elsewhere. The soil and sun of the provinces of Charente and Charente Maritime produced a grape which made an average wine, but a superb brandy. In 1875, the vines died when the roots were devoured by an insect called phylloxera.

In despair, the French fought phylloxera and were defeated.

Someone brought an American vine root to Cognac and grafted it to a French root. The insects disappeared, so brandy owes something to the Americans.

To the Irish, too. It was a Gael, Richard Hennessy of Ballmacmoy, Cork, who, in the early 18th century, offered to fight for the French king because he found no one to fight at home. He enlisted an "Irish Brigade," fought with distinction and was wounded.

When the fighting ended in 1740, King Louis granted Hennessy the privilege of acquiring vineyards and a distillery in the Cognac country. Thus the Hennessy brand was born. But, while they were blending the velvet liquors, French girls were blending marriage to the Hennessy boys.

Four generations later, the name was still "Hennessy," but the boys and girls looked more French than Irish. Nor did the Hennessys produce the only fine brandy. It was Winston Churchill's favorite, but Martell and Courvoisier sold as well around the world. And still does.

I stood on the porch of Bagnolet with the present director, a sophisticated conversationalist (flawless English, perfect French) named the Marquis Giralde de Geoffre d'Chabignac. He is bright, balding, a man of manners who would not dream of asking an American what he thinks of Watergate.

All he said was, "America is the most gifted of nations. It can and will survive anything, including inflation. God gave you such a treasure of resources. A blessed land indeed."

I rolled the filmy Cognac around in a snifter and said that I had interviewed his chief taster, Maurice Filloux. "He tells me that he is the sixth-generation taster of Cognac," I said. "He is wrong," the Marquis said, "he is the seventh."

"Shall I call you Marquis?" I said. "No," he said, grinning. "My allegiance is to my mother. You see, she was a Hennessy." . . .

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. capital markets usually operate smoothly, the result in part of federal regulations that assign to various customers a portion of the market and keep the big from submerging the small.

Regulation Q, for example, permits the so-called thrift institutions — the savings banks and savings and loan associations — to offer 5.25 per cent interest on savings accounts, compared to 5 per cent for commercial banks.

This is based on social considerations. The thrifts are assigned the role of financing housing, and it is considered socially desirable to have a flow of funds into mortgages.

Regulation Q also has the effect of limiting competition between the commercial and savings banks. If there were no regulation, the commercial institutions could outbid the smaller thrifts, and mortgage rates would be a lot higher than the 9.5 per cent average that now prevails.

But now, and in spite of the regulations, the elephants and the mice find themselves in the same playground.

The most obvious technique for getting around the regulations is to offer notes at a high rate of interest and in small denominations Citicorp, parent of the First National City Bank, was the first to announce such plans, but many other corporations might follow.

This capital-raising device has never been used before, and thus is free of regulations, despite efforts by the thrift institutions to have the Federal Reserve Board and the Securities and Exchange Commission clamp down.

Heretofore, the big corporations have never so openly sought the type of funds they are now after, the savings of the "small people," the savings that once were routinely deposited in passbook accounts.

But corporations aren't the only one's after those funds. Uncle Sam is in the market too, offering 9 per cent this week to individuals willing to put up a minimum of $1,000 and leave it with him for 33 months.

The cause, of course, is said to be inflation; it produces a survival fight among those who need money. There simply aren't sufficient funds to satisfy all the needs of those caught in the inflationary spiral.

The Fed could remedy this by increasing the money supply, but it fears that in so doing it will only encourage more of the same in a never-ending flight to economic destruction. And so it has imposed a limit.

That means a new method of allocating credit must be developed or else the most powerful borrow — or at least the one willing to offer the highest rate for money — will survive at the expense of the weak.

The attitude of the Fed appears to favor the second course, and that means housing is likely to remain in its own depression for months to come.

In the view of many analysts, it means that capital can be funneled into investments more productive than housing.

They'll Do It Every Time

Solon Upset With Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Sen. Paul R. Matia, R-25 Westlake, is miffed because Gov. John J. Gilligan didn't invite him to the signing of the landlord-tenant bill Monday.

Matia put out a news release Tuesday accusing the governor of "inexcusable rudeness" for the fact he didn't get an invitation.

The signing took place at the Columbus district office of Rep. Michael P. Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, who sponsored the bill in the House. Matia carried it in the Senate.

"This bill was the product of much hard work by members of the Senate and the House," Matia said, "and I think they should have all shared the credit."

"This kind of rudeness is exactly why the governor has such poor relations with the legislature—even with members of his own party," Matia said.

Matia said Gilligan's desire to see Democrats control the Senate next year "overcame any sense of decency and fairness the governor might normally have."

SATURDAY SUPPER

Boneless pork shoulder butt, snap beans, savory cornbread, nectarines and beverage.

Savory Cornbread
Our version of a recipe that's popular in Houston, Tex.

1 cup stoneground yellow cornmeal
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
8 1/2-ounce can cream style golden corn

1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted and slightly cooled

1/2 pint commercial sour cream
1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
2 or 3 whole, roasted and peeled green chilies from a 4-ounce can, seeded and chopped fine

In a medium mixing bowl stir together the cornmeal, baking powder and salt. Add eggs, corn, butter and sour cream; with a spoon beat until combined. Stir in cheese and chilies. Turn into an 8-inch square glass baking dish or similar utensil and bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester comes out clean — about 45 minutes.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Advice Works Miracles

DEAR ABBY: Your advice works miracles.

On June 2, the Philadelphia Bulletin ran the following item, datelined Toronto, Canada:

"The tax department received a letter along with a tax return recently.

"I haven't been able to sleep since cheating on my income tax," the letter read. "Am enclosing my check for $500. If still unable to sleep, will mail you the balance."

The following item appeared on the same day in the DEAR ABBY column in the Washington (D.C.) StarNews:

"DEAR ABBY, I haven't been able to sleep very well. You see I did a little creative bookkeeping on my income tax by way of 'deductions.' Any suggestions?"

INSOMNIAC

"DEAR IN: Send the Internal Revenue Service a check for $500. And if you still can't sleep, send them the balance."

Now, that's what I call action! A.C. ROBIDOUX, DOVER, DEL.
DEAR A.C.: Not really: The letter in my column was scheduled for release on March 22nd. And that's when it ran in Toronto.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a big mouth. I've heard that he has been blabbing all around the warehouse where he works all kinds of personal things about his sex life.

This is very embarrassing to me because I know all the guys who work there, and I can hardly look them in the eye knowing they know so much about me.

This is enough to make me want to pack up and leave him. Am I wrong? STELLA

DEAR STELLA: Don't pack until you're sure he was talking about you.

DEAR ABBY: My wife of 20 years has never shown me much affection. You may say: "All right some people just aren't the affectionate type," but let me lay this on you. When she and her brother get together, you never saw so much hugging, kissing and pawing in your life. They can't keep their hands off each other.

The other night they both sat squeezed together in one little loveseat, and it was obvious that they had more than a sister-brother relationship going.

I didn't make an issue of it because I didn't know how to. This is something completely outside my experience. Maybe divorce is the answer, but I don't want that.

Please publish this with a workable solution as there must be other readers of your column with the same problem.

Chamber Directors Discuss Christmas Decoration Fund

Among the committee reports presented at the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors' meeting Tuesday was a progress report on the collection of money for the Christmas decorations. Keith Thomerson, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee which is heading up the program, told the directors that a total of $2,327.50 had been collected to date.

The figure represents the largest amount ever collected for such a project in the history of the chamber. Thomerson said 16 Christmas trees had already been secured including the one which had been donated by the company as a sales promotion. An immediate goal of 20 trees is set with long-range plans to reach 38 trees.

A lengthy discussion was held on the typewriter repair bill submitted by a typewriter maintenance company. The bill totaled nearly $100 and Chamber Manager Jean Ankrom advised the board that $75 of the bill could not be accounted for.

Mrs. Ankrom also told board members she had requested several times both verbally over the telephone and by way of several letters an itemized statement. A statement at the time of the meeting had not been received and the board of directors voted unanimously to postpone payment until a suitable bill is received.

Retail Merchants and Safety Committees are working jointly on a four-day free seminar on the Occupational Safety and Health Act. The seminar will be open to all employers, employees and their representatives. It will be held Oct. 22 and 29 and Nov. 5 and 12 from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Cal Danford, chairman of the Safety

Committee, said the seminar would cover virtually everything. The place will be set later depending upon the number of registrations received. Offered free under a grant from the United States Department of Labor, the seminar will only cost the participants the price of the lunches for the four days. A text which will put the OSHA into the layman's terms will be available but will not be required for entrance to the seminar.

The Safety Committee is also working on a bicycle safety program and had planned a meeting with school personnel and other local organizations. The meeting was cancelled due to lack of interest. The only organizations which showed interest were the city schools, county schools and the chief of police. The committee for the most part felt that even the parents were not as concerned as they should be on the bicycle safety of their children.

Larry Plum, chairman of the Education Committee, reported on the future of the committee's most lucrative endeavor, consumer education. He said the program would be re-evaluated and if it is felt to be extremely successful, it may become a separate course instead of merely a part of the American Government courses in the schools. Plum told the board that the program had received favorable support thus far and further details should be worked out with City Schools Superintendent Fritz Jacobs.

Comments were made by the board members on the newsletter which has been a mutual effort on the behalf of Nelson Embrey and Mrs. Ankrom. Embrey represents the Public Relations Committee. The newsletter was considered by the board to be a worthwhile project.

Chairman of the Health Committee, E. G. Grigg, reported to the board concerning a letter which his committee had received from Dr. William Myers seeking support of an emergency medical service. Dr. Myers is heading up a project to supply such service to certain areas of the county and wrote that volunteers were presently being trained to man vehicles.

The Chamber was solicited for both monetary support and verbal commitment to the project. The letter sparked a discussion from the board which brought out that the federal specifications which govern such a project will require an expensive vehicle.

John Adkins and Dr. Myers will both be invited to the September meeting of the board of directors to explain the project more fully before a decision on the support is reached.

Chamber President Dan Hindy reminded the board of the presentation of the bicentennial flag. Representatives from both the American Bicentennial Commission and the Ohio Bicentennial Commission will be present for the ceremony which will be the formal recognition of the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce as a coordinating body to work on the celebration.

Mrs. Ankrom reported on the possibilities of getting bids ready for the various displays which will be available for not only the Pumpkin Show and the Ashville Fourth of July celebrations but also for other times of the year.

Reminders were also mentioned concerning the Navy Concert Band which will be performing at the Ted Lewis Park on Aug. 17. The Chamber is assisting with the preparations of the concert.

The meeting was closed with comments on the nominating committee's upcoming nominations of new members for the board of directors for 1975. Collection of dues will get underway during the first part of December.

plaining authority of the liquor department in issuing licenses.

Ed Combs, speaking for the objectors, stated the church is only 400 feet from Dailey's market. Gerhardt and Wilburn both affirmed the statement.

Combs said that the church is used more than just once a week and that sale of alcohol that close might hurt the church services.

Gerhardt asked if the sale of alcohol affects the conduct of church.

Mayor Frank Barnhill was called by Allen to testify. Barnhill said that at the last council meeting, a decision of a previous meeting not to file an objection with the liquor department in granting a permit was reversed.

Gerhardt, said the market, owned by him since January 1973, is a retail market, dealing in grocery items and is 629 feet from Nicholas Drive Elementary School. He also commented that there have been no difficulties at the store, other than a few break-ins.

The store is opened six days a week and closed on Sunday. He also noted that the church is on the opposite side of the street and that the market is bordered by a vacant land on one side and the water tower on the other.

Wilburn, in closing comments, noted that Gerhardt not only is the president of Circle G Corporation and the owner of Dailey's market, but also the county prosecutor.

Allen said the records will be reviewed with a decision to be made by the Ohio Department of Liquor Control Director Richard Guggenheim.

GM Lays Off 710 Workers

BUFFALO (AP)—The continuing strike at the Chevrolet Vega assembly plant in Ohio has resulted in the temporary layoffs of 710 production workers at two General Motors Corp. plants in the Buffalo area.

The strike at the Lordstown, Ohio, plant is now in its fourth week. The plant is the only one in the country that assembles the sub-compact Vega.

A spokesman said 560 workers were idled at Chevrolet Motor Division plants in Buffalo and suburban Tonawanda at the end of Tuesday's work shifts.

About 250 of the Buffalo workers were to be recalled Monday, but no date was set for the Tonawanda workers' recall.

Another 150 Tonawanda workers were to be furloughed at the end of today's shifts.

Columbia Gas Offers Budget Pay Program To Customers

Columbia Gas of Ohio again is offering its annual budget payment program to customers in the Circleville area and the advantages to those who join will be more significant in the coming months than ever before, according to Calvin Danford, manager for the gas company.

"Continuing inflation and accompanying higher prices that our company must pay to obtain gas to meet the needs of customers will continue to affect the rates we charge for gas service during the coming year," Danford explained. "The budget payment program enables residential and commercial customers who participate to spread these higher costs evenly over the entire year, while those who do not take advantage of the budget plan will face even higher bills in the colder winter heating months," he said.

"Next year and in future years, these advantages will be even greater for budget plan customers," Danford continued, "because higher prices for future supplies of gas will mean even higher rates and, for those not taking advantage of the budget plan, still higher winter heating bills."

All forms of energy, however, are facing the same problems, Danford said, so gas will continue to be the best energy buy in the future and customers can continue to help ease the impact of higher rates by making every possible effort to reduce energy consumption by good conservation practices.

"The budget payment plan, meanwhile, is optional," Danford said, "and there is no charge to participate."

He explained that the gas bill received by each Circleville area customer in August or early September will indicate two amounts: (1) the amount due for gas consumed during the previous month and (2) the amount due under the budget payment program. By paying the budget amount indicated, the customer automatically will join the budget payment program and pay the same budget amount each month.

The monthly budget amount for each customer is calculated from that customer's past history of gas usage, which is adjusted to normal weather and other factors. Next April, each budget customer's account will be reviewed. If necessary, because of abnormal weather or other factors, the budget payment could be adjusted to avoid a large balance being owed by the customer at the end of the budget payment year.

Normal meter reading service by gas company employees continues throughout the year for budget customers, and employees at the local gas company office will be happy to assist customers who may have questions regarding the program, Danford said.

Bench's Homer Tops L.A., 6-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe Morgan called it a must win for the Cincinnati Reds.

"Now," he added, "we have to win Wednesday night to feel we're still in the race."

The Reds snapped Los Angeles' eight-game winning streak Tuesday night when Johnny Bench poled a two-run homer in the 10th inning—the 200th of his career—to lift Cincinnati to a 6-3 victory over Los Angeles before a crowd of 53,472 at Dodger Stadium.

It still left the Reds 6½ games behind the Dodgers in the National League West.

"If they play .500 ball the rest of the way we'll have to play .700 ball," said Bench, explaining the tough road ahead.

"We backed ourselves into a corner losing Monday's game," Morgan added. "But tonight we battled them and the breaks went our way."

Chief among the breaks was a crisp line drive by pinch-hitter Joe Ferguson in the eighth inning when the Dodgers had runners at first and third, one out and the score tied, 3-3. But the ball was rifled right at shortstop Dave Concepcion, who alertedly doubled Steve Garvey off first.

"You can't ask a guy to hit a ball harder than Ferguson hit that one," Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston said afterward.

Bench's homer came off of Mike Marshall, Los Angeles' crack relief pitcher who was working in his 75th game, an all-time Dodger record.

"I guessed he'd throw a slider," Bench said, "but with that guy even though you're guessing it doesn't mean you're going to hit it. This one hung." The game began as a pitching struggle between Don Sutton and the Reds' young righthander, Tom Carroll.

The Dodgers didn't get a hit off of Carroll for four innings. But in the fifth a walk to Steve Yeager, single by Bill Russell which sent Yeager to third and a perfectly placed bunt single by Sutton gave the Dodgers a 1-0 lead. Cincinnati immediately went on top when Morgan doubled to open the sixth and Tony Perez hit his 21st home run.

Elsewhere in the National League, the St. Louis Cardinals took a doubleheader from the Montreal Expos 5-4 and 9-4; the Houston Astros blasted the San Francisco Giants 13-4; the Atlanta Braves stopped the San Diego Padres 5-2; the Philadelphia Phillies hammered the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and the Pittsburgh Pirates nipped the New York Mets 9-8 in 11 innings.

Cards 5-9, Expos 4-4
Mike Tyson's two-run triple highlighted a four-run rally in the fourth inning that carried St. Louis over Montreal in the first game of their doubleheader. The Cardinals scored seven runs in the third inning of the second game to complete a sweep.

Astros 13, Giants 4
Left fielder Gary Matthews dropped Tommy Helms' liner for a two-base error and Houston rallied for three unearned runs in the sixth inning and went on to beat San Francisco.

Milt May's one-out single and a two-out single by Doug Rader started the rally. Matthews then dropped Helms' liner and both runners scored, breaking a 3-3 tie.

Braves 5, Padres 2
Home run king Henry Aaron drove in four runs with two homers and right-hander Phil Niekro hurled Atlanta past San Diego.

Aaron, who passed Babe Ruth's record 714 homers in April, tagged his 14th and 15th of the season, raising his alltime record to 728.

A single by Ralph Garr and a walk to Darrell Evans set up a three-run homer by Aaron in the third inning and he opened the sixth with another.

Phillies 8, Cubs 3
Willie Montanez hit his first major league grand slam home run to lead Philadelphia over Chicago.

Pirates 9, Mets 8
Gene Clines reached base on an error by shortstop Bud Harrelson in the 11th inning and later scored on an error by pitcher Tug McGraw to help Pittsburgh beat New York.

Jack Nicklaus Receiving Abundance Of Golf Tips

CLEMMONS, N.C. (AP) — When things go bad, the customers always write.

So mused Jack Nicklaus, noting that his mail box is stuffed with suggestions on how to cure his golfing ills.

"You'd be surprised how many letters I get from people who know what I am doing wrong," said the game's greatest collector of major titles, allowing himself only two days preparation for defense of his PGA Championship beginning Thursday.

Nicklaus, whose last victory was the Hawaiian Open Feb. 3, is co-favorite with South Africa's Gary Player in the tourney over the 7,050-yard, par-70 Tanglewood course starting Thursday.

At last count, 146 touring and club professionals were prepared to tee off in the 72-hole tourney that ends Sunday.

Late withdrawals included Hale Irwin, the U.S. Open champion, whose wife is expecting a baby; veteran Julius Boros, suffering from a back ailment; Buddy Allin, who has a sore shoulder, and former title-holder Jack Burke Jr., who decided not to compete. "I am not playing that badly," said Nicklaus, who breezed in Tuesday for his second tour of the course. "But I've not been totally happy with my game."

"I've been close several times, in a position to win. But each time I've backed off."

Nicklaus practiced Tuesday and planned another round today.

"Usually, I like more preparation," the 30-year-old Nicklaus said. "But I had no more early practice last year when I won at Canterbury (Cleveland)."

Local Club Drivers Win Three Pulls

Three members of the South-Central Ohio Tractor Pullers Association were first-place winners at the Pickaway County Fair.

Joe Ruff of Lancaster won the 9,000 modified class, Linden Gibson of Circleville won the 5,000 modified, and Jeff Writsel of Orient won the 7,000 modified pull.

Results of the 5,000 pound modified pull are:

1. Linden Gibson; 2. Dave Hiliman; 3. Jim Miller; 4. Chuck Wagner; 5. Merle Grimm; 6. J. Drake; 7. Gary Baldwin; 8. Wayne Atwood; 9. Wheeler Rittinger.

Results of the 7,000 Modified pull are:

1. Jeff Writsel; 2. Vern Miller; 3. Banter Brothers; 4. Buck Johnson; 5. (tie) Linden Gibson and Joe Ruff; 7. Dave Hiliman; 8. Jim Wilson; 9. P. Landis.

Youth Baseball Results

PONY LEAGUE
Third National 10, Burger Chef 0
Robbie Sark and Steve Cundiff combined to limit Burger Chef to four hits as they banged out 13 hits themselves.

Chuck Wise pounded a homer to lead the winners. Brian Sealock tagged a triple and a single and Greg Woods added a double and two singles. Robbie Sark slashed two singles and Steve Cundiff smacked three.

Scott Sanders and Richard Elsea were the losing pitchers allowing 13 hits.

Sanders and Elsea had two singles each to lead the losers.

Top Trotters Set For Scioto Race

The number one and number six ranked eligibles to the 1974 Hambletonian trotting classic are among the 13 outstanding starters in the $17,150 Scarlet and Gray Cup three-year-old Trot Thursday night at Scioto Downs.

The 13 entries forced the race into two divisions, and each division abounds with sophomore trotting speed and talent.

Golden Sovereign, the brilliant chestnut son of Floris, owned by Phil Drake of Columbus and Kathryn Richardson of Painesville, Ohio, is the slight early choice in the second division.

Ranked number one in the pre-race Hambletonian ratings by the U.S. Trotting Association, Golden Sovereign zoomed to the top of the ratings after Nevele Diamond, previously ranked number one, Spitfire Hanover, and Christopher T, all went down to defeat in the $60,000 Gold Cup at Vernon Downs.

The horse that beat the top ranked colts, Buckeye Count, returns to Scioto Thursday night to match strides with Golden Sovereign in the tough second division. Golden Sovereign, the winner of five of 10 starts this year and a best time of 2:02, will have to contend with Buckeye Count, the slick Swedish-owned son of Speedster.

Trained by Denzil Berry and driven by Hakan Wallner, Buckeye Count deflated the Hambo "biggies" with a crushing third-heat Gold Cup victory in 2:00 1-5.

Bill Herman, the Washington C. H. master reinsman who has made it big on the nation's top raceways, brings a non-Hambo eligible in that has the east coast fans really buzzing. He is Dancing Party, a hustling brown son of Florican who won in 2:00 4-5 at Vernon Downs.

Mike Zeller will be at the helm of a top contender from the Howard Beissinger stable, Stock Split, the likeable off-spring of Dartmouth, owned by Mrs. Beissinger and Faye Gillan of Hamilton, Ohio. Stock Split has five wins in twelve starts this year, and a mark of 2:03 4-5.

Billy Haughton will send the powerful Hickory Pride colt, Keystone Gabriel in, Rick Midden has Curly Smart's fast-improving son of Porterhouse, Penthouse going for his fourth straight victory, and Earl Purcell goes after the winning share of the purse with True G.B.

The first division is bristling with potential power. Rated as the slight early choice is the great Surge Hanover, the Star's Pride youngster, co-owned by Bill Wellwood, who startled the world of harness racing early this year with a smashing victory in the $114,000 Dexter Cup in New York. Surge Hanover won a division of the Founders Plate at Vernon Downs in 1:59 4-5.

Challenging Surge Hanover in the first division is the great Ohio-owned trotter, Parlay R.C., owned by Florence England of Marion, trained and driven by Ben White. Last year, this chancy son of Florican won 15 of 25 starts, and this year has two wins including a trip in 2:02 1-5 at Scioto, two seconds, and four thirds including one behind Nevele Diamond in 2:00 3-5.

Teams 1, 6 Tie During Ladies Play

Team 1 and team 6 tied for top honors during Pickaway Country Club Ladies League play Tuesday.

Members of team 1 are Mary Carpenter, Dottie Smith, Louise Story, and Madeline Sanders. Members of team 6 are Sue Schneider, Joyce Alkire, Hester Weldon, and Jane Fath.

Leading the league is team 5, composed of Jan McKelvey, Mae Huggins, Jackie Moore, and Betty Danford.

Mike Zeller has another Beissinger stable prospect in Keystone Liberty, Tim Heminger has the bustling B.F. Coalton youngster, Deeb Turk, Earl Bowman moves in from Northfield with College Record, and Dick Hackett drew the rail with Wildwood George to complete the first division.

Of the 13 Scarlet and Gray Cup starters, six are eligible to the big Hambletonian at Du Quoin, Ill., on Aug. 28, and all six eligibles stand a real good chance of starting in the sport's biggest trotting classic.

NFL Strike Mediation Continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Representatives of the striking National Football League players and club owners were scheduled to meet again today with federal mediator W.J. Ustry Jr., as veterans continued to trickle into various training camps in defiance of the 38-day-old strike.

Ustry met with the two sides Tuesday, and the only announced result of those meetings was that they would meet again this morning.

Meanwhile, management said that as of Tuesday over one fourth of the NFL veterans had reported to preseason training camps. A spokesman for the NFL Management Council put the number of defections at 360, or 28 per cent of the total NFL work force, and claimed that 111 of them were starters. He said 910 veterans, about 500 of those starters, remain out of camp.

Tuesday's camp arrivals included kicker Pete Gogolak of the New York Giants, defensive tackle Jon Kolb of Pittsburgh, middle linebacker Nick Buoniconti and offensive tackle Norm Evans of Miami and guard John Niland of Dallas.

Niland said it was "God's will" that he join 19 other Dallas veterans at the team's camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

But a group of about 30 Minnesota Vikings veterans, at a meeting Tuesday night, decided to begin working out as a unit but reaffirmed their decision not to report to camp.

Cornback Bobby Bryant, speaking for those who attended the two-hour meeting which included Coach Bud Grant, said, "We'll be working out daily but nobody is going to camp. The main purpose of the meeting was to get ourselves organized."

Big Perfecta Pays $10,017 At Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — One ticket holder walked out with $10,017 after picking the one-two horses in the Big Perfecta in the seventh and eighth races Tuesday night at Latonia.

A track spokesman, who declined to name the lone winner, said the better picked Steady Johnnie Sue and Direct Ruler, 1-3 in the seventh and 2-1, Combat Miss and Royal Jackson in the eighth.

Chestnut T Creed won the featured pace mile in 2:05 by a length and paid $4.20, $3.80 and $3.20. Easter Lynett placed, $9.20 and $3.40 and Ronny Go, third, $3.

Speedrow Q and Speedy Willow combined 1-6 for $72.60 in the daily double.

The crowd of 1,614 bet $109,417.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): If there is no guide or directive, be careful not to act impulsively on new projects. Appraise values warily. Day will be a challenge to your ingenuity.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): If there are a few "clouds" on your horizon, look beyond, even OVERLOOK them. You can have a satisfactory day despite minor obstacles.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Controversy may provide annoying. Yet here is where your outgoing, tolerant self can shine. Emphasize pertinent points and keep minor issues in their place.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): The most difficult chore may bring the most rewarding returns if handled well. Avoid tension, dissension. Intellectual pursuits highly favored.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Avoid a tendency toward indifference. Rewards will be commensurate with the efforts you expend. Keep your own counsel in personal affairs.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Under day's potent influences, you should have new incentive, seek new ways to improve your status. Ambitious projects, well-managed, should work out well.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Quite unexpectedly, you may be afforded the chance to do something "different," attain a surer foothold on the ladder of success. Keep alert and ready to act.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Do not let problems or discussions grow out of proportion. Hold yourself in check, especially if dealing with superiors, business associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Stellar influences on the mild side. You are just about on your own to decide, act, work out new tactics, but don't waste time on nonessentials.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Saturn influences fine! Now's the time to launch new ventures, set forth your ingenious ideas and make decisions involving future activities.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A different approach rather than a complete change of objective may be the keynote to day's success. Take time to think things out, to absorb details.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A little more restraint may be needed to improve your chances for gain now. Don't force issues and DO prepare well. Romance and travel favored.

YOU BORN TODAY, ruled by the Sun, are one of the most dynamic of all personalities. You have enormous pride which, if working FOR you, can lead to unusual achievement but, if expressed in self importance, can lead to arrogance and hauteur — with the result that you will make many enemies. You have a great love for luxuries and will work assiduously to attain them. Your talents are many, but as an executive or salesman, you would be tops. Other fields in which you would excel: the stage, the law, writing. Birthdate of: Connie Stevens, singer; Esther Williams, swimming and film star; Andy Warhol, mod painter and underground film producer.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — If House leaders put undue restrictions on live TV coverage of the House impeachment debates, CBS may consider "pulling out" of the coverage, says Richard S. Salant, head of CBS News.

However, Richard Wald and Elmer Lower, his counterparts at NBC and ABC, each say they feel coverage rules that don't threaten television's journalistic independence will be ironed out before the debates begin.

The three were interviewed separately Tuesday after the House Rules Committee adopted a resolution allowing broadcast coverage of the debates. Approval of the measure by the full House is generally predicted.

No formal regulations for the coverage have been set, although a four-member special House committee now is working on them. House Speaker Carl Albert would have final say on any regulations and be authorized to halt or limit coverage if they were transgressed.

The question of a possible CBS pullout came when Salant was asked about unofficial proposals to limit TV's view of the debate to the Speaker's rostrum and tables set aside for the party managers of the impeachment bill presented the House.

"All I can say on that one is that it presents us with an agonizing problem," Salant said. "I find it unacceptable. And I don't know which way I'd go on that. I think I'd very seriously consider pulling out."

He said CBS has made its feelings known to the leadership.

Local Man Hospitalized With Gun Shot Wound

Richard Carothers, 121 Fairview Ave., is being treated in Doctor's North Hospital, Columbus, for an apparently self-inflicted gun shot wound. He is in "poor" condition.

Circleville Police said a .38 caliber slug was removed from Carothers' left back side at Berger Hospital. The bullet entered his right lower stomach area.

The weapon, a Titan Tiger revolver with two-inch barrel, was found by the front door of his house. Police found three spent shells in the weapon and one slug in the baseboard of a bedroom in the house.

According to the report, Carla Carothers, the man's wife, told Ptl. Ray Dulin that Richard called her on the telephone at 9:29 p.m. to say he was going to kill himself.

Mrs. Carothers, who is separated from her husband, said she heard a gun shot during the phone conversation.

Ptl. Jim Ford and Mike Eberhart spotted Carothers standing at the front door of his home. After asking him to come outside to talk, the officers said they heard at least two gun shots. Carothers fell out the front door of the house.

Carothers was apparently belligerent after the shooting and the officers had to use handcuffs to subdue him.

Police found a "suicide note" in the house.

Newspapers Call For Resignation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Springfield Sun urged strongly today that President Nixon resign for the good of the country.

It was the latest of a number of Ohio newspapers reacting editorially to Nixon's disclosure that he had withheld evidence from Watergate investigators and his defense counsel.

In an editorial entitled, "Nixon Must Resign," The Sun said it had not advocated impeachment of the President until "it became obvious that Mr. Nixon was resisting full investigation and disclosure of the Watergate scandals."

"Now that he stands self-convicted, not only of resisting appropriate scrutiny but of suppressing evidence, obstructing justice and systematically deceiving the American people, it seems to us imperative that he resign," the newspaper said.

The editorial declared that a president "of divided mind and distracted energies simply cannot marshal the kind of leadership which Americans—and for that matter most of the free world—now urgently require."

The Toledo Times, in a milder declaration, said in today's editions "it would definitely be in the public interest if Mr. Nixon resigned."

The newspaper said it is "hard to see what he (Nixon) can expect to gain by hanging on."

The Youngstown Vindicator said Nixon has been stripped of his quality of leadership by his "admission that he deceived the public, Congress and even his own associates."

"With his leadership thus destroyed, with the prospect of his personal fortunes and to save the country further travail, Mr. Nixon should step out."

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said earlier that Nixon should resign "to spare the nation the agony of the impeachment process and himself the humiliation of conviction."

ASCS Head Urges Push Toward Farm Goals

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the government's most highly organized and far-flung agricultural bureaucracy has urged grass root leaders to step forth with a new push toward Nixon administration farm goals of free enterprise and market reliance.

Kenneth E. Frick, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said Tuesday there is pressure developing for more government controls and dabbling in farm operations.

New reliance on government would mean detours in the free enterprise route sought by the Nixon administration, Frick told more than 200 state committee members and office directors who carry out policy for his agency. Committee men are appointed by the administration to help oversee federal farm programs.

"We have taken the other road this time," Frick said in his prepared speech. "We have gone before the fork, and we are moving forward. And the only question I would raise at this point is whether someone is going to detour us."

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz and other administration farm officials have often referred to a long history of government farm policies and how those have prevented farmers from partaking in the free market.

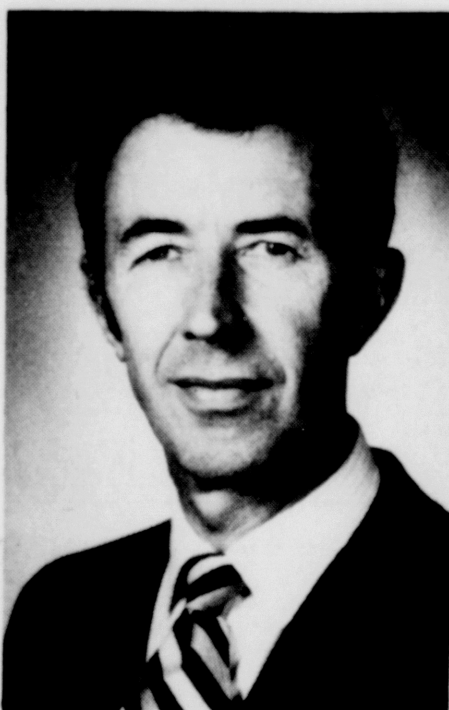

Frick said many "self-serving efforts" will be made to put farmers back under federal control. One now in Congress, he said, would raise price supports of flue-cured and burley tobacco.

The Nixon farm doctrine has been basically to seek fewer controls and less dependence on high price supports and on direct payments, or subsidies, to farmers.

Another danger, Frick said, involves pressure for the government to own large stocks of commodities — a reference to national food reserve plans advocated by some in Congress.

Local Man Appointed At Thiokol

Jerald E. Mason, Brigham City, Utah, has been named to director of operations of Thiokol Corporation's Wasatch Division plant, according to A. L. Savoca, Thiokol vice president and Wasatch General Manager. Mason succeeds John Higginson.

JERALD E. MASON

Mason is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Elliot Mason, 108 Reber Ave., Circleville. In his new position, he will be responsible for all phases of manufacturing, quality assurance and test activities, safety, industrial engineering, special tooling, facilities and material control activities.

With Thiokol-Wasatch Division since 1960, Mason has served most recently as Manager of Manufacturing since 1968. In earlier responsibilities, he was Manager of Operations Control for Air Force Plant 78, 1960-63; Manager of Operations Technical Planning, 1963-66; and Manager of Manufacturing Engineering, 1966-68.

He is a graduate of Ohio State University, where he earned a BS degree in aeronautical engineering.

Prior to joining Thiokol, Mason was assistant General Manager and Works Manager for American Electronics, Inc., and Sales Engineer for Sutorbilt Corp., both in southern California.

Court Releases Monthly Report

Naomi Houghton released a report for the month of July for Circleville Municipal Court.

Total for fines, costs and bond forfeitures was $17,993.20. Of this amount the city of Circleville will receive $9,192.24, and Pickaway County, $4,869.82. Total due to the treasurer of the state is $3,402.74. Sheriff of Pickaway County will receive $229.90, with other disbursements totaling $298.50.

Criminal cases filed numbered 669 with 610 finished. The number of cases in which all or part of the fines and costs were suspended was 11 while the amount of fines and costs suspended totalled $437.35.

Twenty-five civil cases were filed with 21 cases concluded. The total due to the city for civil cases was $236.09.

The number of small claims filed was 66. Fifty-eight cases were finished leaving the amount due to the city at $238.95.

Children Pedaling To School Urged To Obey Rules Of Road

Going to and from school, children tend to romp and play around a lot, often forgetting rules about safety when they cross the streets or drive their bicycles.

Motorists are warned to watch for school children and be alert, taking particular care when driving during school hours.

Of course, the School Safety Patrol Members are out there to guard children against mishaps, and safety programs for adults and children are held systematically to cut down on the causes of potential hazards.

One of the areas of concentration is bicycle safety.

A revised set of "Suggested Safe Bike Driving Rules" from the Bicycle Institute of America was developed in conjunction with the National Safety Council and the Cub Scouts of America. Here are those rules:

—Obey all applicable traffic regulations, signs, signals and markings.

—Observe all local ordinances pertaining to bicycle operation.

—Keep right, drive with traffic, not against it. Drive single file.

—Watch out for drain grates, soft shoulders and other road surface hazards.

—Watch out for car doors opening, or for cars pulling out into traffic.

—Don't carry passengers or packages that interfere with your vision or control.

—Never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicle.

—Be extremely careful at all intersections, particularly when making a left turn.

—Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping.

—Protect yourself at night with the required reflectors and lights.

—Drive your bike defensively; watch out for the other guy.

Traditional Grading Preferred

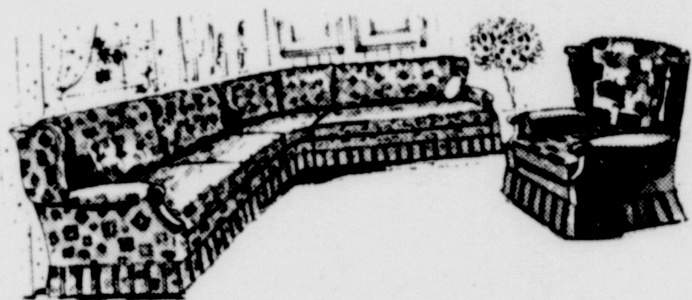

Different surveys of high schools, colleges and universities have indicated that only a small number of schools, roughly two per cent, were using non-traditional grading systems completely.

Despite experimentation and partial adoption of pass-fail and satisfactory-unsatisfactory systems, percentages and numerical grades, the majority of schools still rely on letter grades: A, B, C, D, and F.

Even the students themselves were sticking to the old grading when they could; usually less than 10 per cent (currently declining) in colleges and universities were electing nontraditional grades.

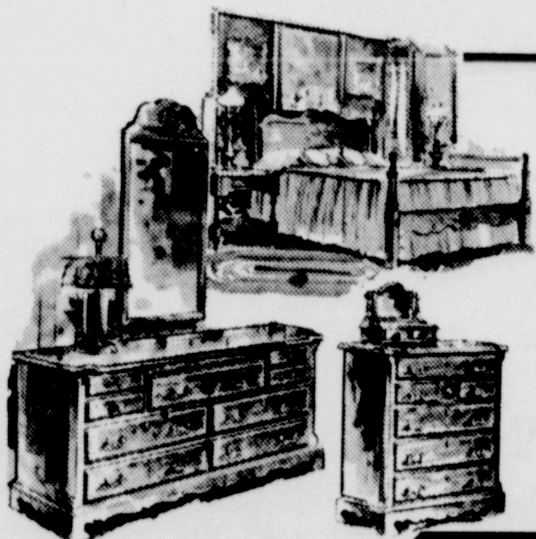

Collegians are worried about graduate school chances and employment possibilities being hurt by non-traditional grades, and high school students are concerned about college admission standards too. Many schools admit to preferring old letter grades.

Regardless of critics, it is maintained that a student's performance must be gauged, if not by letter or numerical grades, then by written reports from instructors.

Costs Of College Still Rise

The American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) reports that costs in the nation's state colleges and universities increased during the 1973-74 school year, conforming to an annual escalation of college costs which many educators as well as parents view with alarm.

According to a survey conducted by the AASCU, tuition and fees charged to in-state undergraduate students rose an average of 3.6 per cent, raising the average tuition to $489 a year. The checkbooks of out-of-state students were hit even harder: a 10.4 per cent increase in tuition and fees for a cost of $1,238 a year.

Room and board costs in the state colleges and universities also rose, the AASCU said, and students now are charged an average of $997 a year for room and meals, a 4.7 per cent increase.

Administrators in the state colleges and universities are deeply concerned about the steadily rising costs. Founded as colleges to provide low-cost education for generations of new college students, educators now fear that rising tuitions may be slamming the doors of opportunity shut for thousands of minority and disadvantaged students, low-income, and even middle-income students.

Several national groups supporting tuition increases in the public colleges have argued that student aid can serve as a substitute for low-tuition opportunity. However, a second survey conducted by AASCU among its 312 members found that only 2 per cent of the students received student aid under the federal government's Basic Educational Opportunity Grant program, which was expected to greatly expand access.

AASCU officials believe that the bureaucratic delays, inadequate funding and unrealistic restrictions which plagued the program can all too easily hamper student aid programs, rendering them ineffective in the face of rising tuitions.

AASCU officials and college administrators are not completely pessimistic about the cost situation. They believe that the escalating costs can be reserved if positive action is taken by legislators in each of the states. Many believe that costs were eating into family incomes, a situation caused by a short-sighted look at the annual budget rather than a long-range view of how students were being affected.

Invite A Cop To Your Fight

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Local police are taking a new approach to potentially explosive family arguments and domestic squabbles.

Under a police planning division recommendation, specially trained police officers will respond to domestic disputes.

"In some cases we keep responding week after week, month after month to the same home," said Gregory Burns, a planning official for the local police department. "Eventually something is going to explode and somebody is going to get killed. Maybe a cop."

The police teams will be called in to handle mainly nonviolent cases, to settle down the participants and refer them to long-term counseling if needed, a spokesman said.

The spokesman said the guiding philosophy of the program will be to reduce the number of arrests stemming from domestic fights and divert troubled families away from the criminal justice system to other social agencies.

Motorcycle Safety Checks Confidence

Over-confidence can be dangerous to your physical well-being if you're a motorcycle buff. In fact, over-confidence, whether you drive a car, bike, or cycle, is a major factor in accidents.

On the average, the motorcycle accident death rate per million vehicle miles is six times that of passenger cars.

Since the fuel pinch has prompted some students to switch from cars to motorcycles, the American Automobile Association, which concerns itself with the safety factors of all street vehicles, offers this round-up of safety tips for cyclists.

Preparation — If you've never ridden a motorcycle before, study your owner's manual thoroughly to learn the location and operation of each control, and then take a number of short "dry-run" rides.

Safety Equipment — The most important item here is a properly fitting helmet held securely in place by a strap — one that meets state standards where they are established.

Visibility — It's vital that motorcyclists be seen by drivers of other road vehicles. AAA strongly advises cyclists to use their headlights during the day as well as at night.

Getting started — Before trying to start the engine, make certain that the cycle is in good operating condition.

Riding in Traffic — Avoid highways where you can't keep up with the other traffic, and just as when driving a car, allow a two-second driving time interval between your cycle and the vehicle ahead of you.

Group Riding — If other riders join you, all of you should ride in staggered pairs with enough room between each pair for overtaking cars to pull in.

Overtaking and Passing — Perform this maneuver only when legal, of course. When planning to overtake, be certain that no one is planning to overtake you; then signal, pull into the left lane, and leave ample space between your cycle and the vehicle you are overtaking.

Turns — Always give the hand signal for a turn at least 100 feet before the start of the turn.

Intersections — Most motorcycle accidents occur here, so exercise special alertness. Speed should be lowest just before entering the intersection, and you should be prepared to stop if necessary.

Freeways — Avoid them if you can't keep up with the higher-speed traffic flow.

Passengers and packages — Only seasoned motorcycle drivers should carry passengers, and if they do, the cycle should have both a seat and foot pegs for the other person. The passenger should also wear a helmet.

Who's Who In Georgia

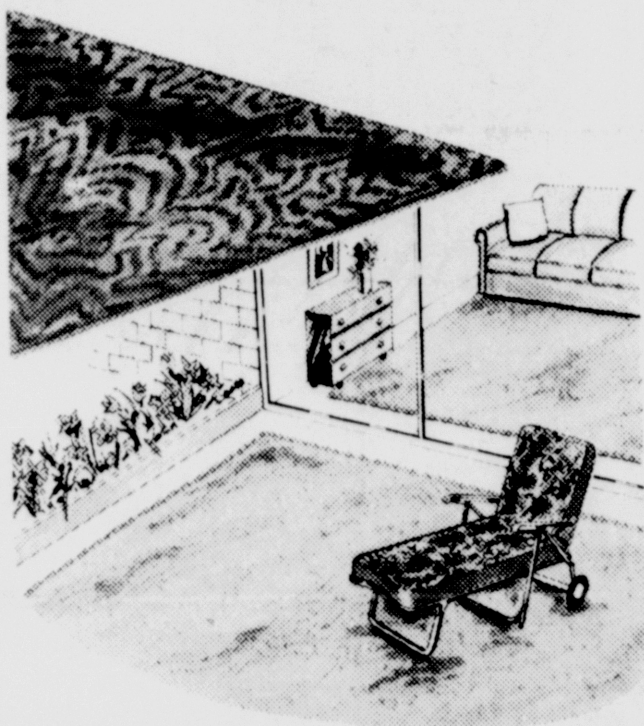

ATLANTA (AP)—With 17 candidates for governor and 12 running for lieutenant governor in Georgia this summer, even the candidates are having a problem remembering who's who.

State Rep. George Busbee, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, was busy hand-shaking at a convention of broadcasters.

"What station are you with?" Busbee asked one man.

"Station? I'm running against you for governor," the man replied.

Here's How To Pep Up Child's Lunch Box Days

Long before the school bell rings, mothers are busy planning nutritious lunches their children will eat. One of the easiest solutions is to dress up leftovers. This not only saves time and money, but the food that tastes good at dinner will probably have just as much appeal the next day.

Use creativity to add nutrition while sparking appetites. Last night's meatloaf becomes a lunch time winner as a sandwich topped with pickle relish and hard cooked eggs. This combination gives a tempting new taste to the meatloaf, and the eggs add protein to youngsters' diets.

Variety is also important. Although some youngsters will eat one or two types of soup, they soon become monotonous. Try adding peas, baby lima beans or corn to a favorite such as chicken and rice or chicken noodle soup. These vegetables give the soup new eye- and taste-appeal as well as added vitamins.

To be sure the soup stays hot all morning, it's best to pack it in shatterproof bottles such as The Roughnecks by Thermos. Because they contain no glass, they're virtually unbreakable. And that means no replacing of fillers. And these bottles also keep cold drinks at their taste-tempting best.

When selecting a lunch box, choose one imprinted with the child's favorite cartoon character. Lunch always seems to taste better with a friend along.

And don't forget the surprises. A few pretzels, cookies, cherry tomatoes and other snacks are sure to bring smiles at lunch time.

Dressed-up Meatloaf

2 slices white bread
Lettuce
Meatloaf slices
1 tablespoon pickle relish
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 hard-cooked egg, sliced
Arrange lettuce on one slice of bread. Top with meatloaf, mayonnaise, pickle relish, hard-cooked egg and remaining slice of bread. Makes one sandwich.

Versatile

Chicken Soup

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed chicken noodle-O's soup
1 soup can water
½ cup cooked peas, drained

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Heat, stirring occasionally. Pour 1 cup of hot soup into The Roughnecks lunch bottle, reserve the rest for lunch at home.

Here Are Crafty Ideas For Class Pictures Kids Swap

School bells may no longer herald the beginning of a day of classes, and writing tablets are surely a thing of the past. But school pictures are a tradition that has kept pace with progress. And, while today's photos look a lot different than those of a generation ago, they are more popular than ever.

Swapping school pictures with classmates is a well-established custom. These photos provide students with a souvenir collection of the year's good times.

To make the most of the photo collections, here are some good ideas:

Photo-Address Book. Fold 8x10 sheet of construction paper in half horizontally, glue photos on inside pages and print the full name, address and phone for each friend. This is a handy way to acquaint parents with new playmates.

Photo Cube. Cut six identical cardboard squares the size of the photos and attach photos with glue. Then, glue squares into a cube-shape and finish edges with attractive trim.

Paper Weights. Place jar lid, large enough for photo, top side down on flat surface and fill to rim with plaster of Paris; let harden. Using a craft-type glue, adhere photo to top of lid and glue a piece of felt to cover bottom.

Photo Buttons. Make a button for each friend's photo and attach to school bag, bulletin board or felt banner at home. Roughen inside surface of jar lid with sandpaper and attach diaper pin with glue; let dry. Glue photo to top of lid and add trim or felt edges.

Photo Mobile. Select photos to be used and cut into interesting shapes. Hang a fine thread from a high point on ceiling and tie to middle of a piece of coat-hanger wire. Then attach two four-inch pieces of thread at each end; glue thread to back of photos. Continue to suspend thread and new wire until you have a balanced arrangement.

However the school photos are displayed, they are bound to bring a great deal of pleasure to each student.

Keeping Mexican Away From Mallard

WASHINGTON (AP) — One area in which the U.S. Government is trying hard to encourage segregation is in the raising of Mexican ducks.

Eighteen of these endangered birds were released recently on the Bosque del Apache National Wildlife Refuge in New Mexico, bringing the total thus released in nine years to 127. They have been raised in captivity on the refuge in hopes of reestablishing them as a breeding species. The United States has only a few of them left, although Mexico has an estimated 15,000.

One of the project's problems has been to identify the specific kind of nesting area preferred by the ducks, so that they will not cross-breed with the more numerous Mallards and thus dilute their blood lines. The released ducks were observed nesting in the wild for the first time last year. Scientists were able to determine they preferred dense "escape cover" near the water for their nests. With such information in hand, the Fish and Wildlife Service hopes to protect or reestablish suitable nesting areas for the birds.

Assist Study Habits With A Fresh Room

"Cracking the books" is tough enough as it is without making high school teenagers or college co-eds put up with stuffy room atmospheres.

It may sound trivial, but educators and environmentalists alike agree that pleasant atmospheric conditions are conducive to better concentration, which today's complex school and college courses require.

Some indoor environmental problems can be solved by taking a few cues from nature herself. For example, dorms and bedrooms can be brightened by arranging a combination of green leaf plants and flowering plants with colorful foliage plants. Planters are especially versatile because they can be moved at intervals during the school year to create new moods, new color combinations and new decorative looks indoors.

Still another "study hall" problem, which can't be overcome by decorative use of the artifacts of nature, is stale air. Man's ingenuity comes to the rescue, however, because now there's an automatic way to bring nature's lovely fragrances indoors. It's the Schick Fresh Air Machine, a totally new concept in air fresheners which continuously eliminates household odors while leaving light scents (Lemon-Lime, Garden Air or Spring Air) in the room atmosphere.

Incidentally, not a single watt of electricity will be wasted since the Fresh Air Machine is battery operated. It's also small and light, has a wood-grain look and can be mounted on a wall or merely placed on a shelf. A precision measuring valve dispenses odor-eliminating mist four times an hour. Each refill lasts approximately a month in continuous 12-hours per day use.

So, with such a combination of nature and ingenuity, ideal study conditions can be created — and economically too.

IDEAL study conditions are easily created through a combination of a terrarium containing a variety of straight-from-nature leaf plants, and neat accessories.

Motor City Cleanup

DETROIT (AP)—Pride is said to be uplifting, but for this city it also leads to facelifting.

This year's annual spring cleaning, a project called "Pride" by Detroiters, saw over 4,000,000 pounds of trash and debris picked up from the streets and alleys of an 80-square-mile section of the Motor City.

The program, which began in 1970, involved some 125,000 residents as well as Detroit businessmen who contributed $25,000 to pay for supplies and promotional material. Fire stations passed out 250,000 trash bags and police precincts distributed bumper stickers and posters. The Detroit Department of Public Works sent 1,000 men and 250 sanitation trucks on special runs throughout the city, while the Michigan National Guard assigned 50 trucks and 200 men to patrol the area, collecting debris too heavy or bulky for the sanitation trucks to handle.

Driver's Ed Helps Save Fuel

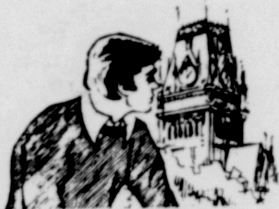

High school driver education is an important method for teaching the concepts of energy conservation, the American Automobile Association says.

Such courses reach new drivers at a time of peak learning interest, before they develop habits that waste gas. Fuel-saving driving techniques can be constantly stressed in driver education classes, and students have the opportunity to practice them during behind-the-wheel sessions.

Saving fuel by driving slower also serves as a safety measure because teens usually drive to school at the same time younger children are walking to school.
